

Jim South

1528 Walnut Street, Suite 600

Philadelphia, PA 19102

(215) 735-2131

James.South@KolinsSecurityGroup.com

James South is retired Detective with the New Jersey State Police. The safety, security and investigative training received while a member of the New Jersey State Police coupled with 25 years of law enforcement experience allows Jim to provide clients with premium services. His decorated 25-year law-enforcement career ranged from street-level operations to operational supervisor, investigator to instructor. Mr. South is fully licensed, bonded and insured. He has professional investigative and security consulting contacts in 50 foreign countries. These relationships allow us to provide our clients with professional services on a global level.

While assigned to the New Jersey State Police, Mr. South was assigned to supervise a tactical patrol unit which responded to crime or traffic problem areas within central New Jersey and to develop plans to reduce the problems reported. This unit also provided security for governmental officials including presidential, gubernatorial, and legislative details.

Mr. South also supervised Office of Homeland Security details at Oyster Creek Nuclear Plant and other sites designated as critical infrastructure as well as supervised physical security for large venues/events including on and off field security at Giants Stadium and the Byrne Arena for NFL, NHL and collegiate sporting events and concerts.

Mr. South was assigned to the NJSP Intelligence Bureau to gather intelligence and handle confidential investigations.

Mr. South was responsible for handling and supervising all facets of criminal investigation including white collar crime, aggravated sexual assault, robbery, drugs, homicide and assisted with investigating officer involved shootings.

In addition, Mr. South was a supervisor in the Office of Professional Standards (Internal Affairs). Mr. South was responsible for conducting and supervising investigations against sworn members of the New Jersey State Police to assure that members were in compliance with NJSP SOP's, training procedures and safety protocols.

Mr. South was assigned as the Operations Supervisor to the Shooting Response Team which operated within the city limits of Camden, New Jersey. The unit was formed to reduce the amount of non-fatal shootings in Camden, New Jersey which has been in the top ten most violent cities in the United States for over 10 consecutive years.